Leadership News Items for the Month of April, 2008

From the Bishop's Office

CENTRAL DEANERY CLERICUS with Bishop Howe is Thursday, April 10 from 10 a.m. until 1:00 p.m. at Church of the Ascension, 4950 Apopka-Vineland Road, Orlando. Please call the church at 407-876-3480 to reserve a lunch. This meeting is for priests and deacons only.

Kingdom Mandate Conference – April 10-12, All Saints, Winter Park

The Kingdom Mandate Conference on church planting and church growth, featuring Bishop John Howe, The Reverends Mike Atkins and Steve Childers as keynote speakers is coming up April 10-12 at All Saints Church in Winter Park. Cost is $25. We have added several workshops and will have a detailed schedule posted later this week. You can see that and other information and still register this week online at...

Clergy Day – April 29th with The Reverend Dr. Christopher Seitz

The Reverend Dr. Christopher Seitz (Anglican Communion Institute; Wycliffe College, Toronto; published author, brother of our own Tom Seitz) will be in the Central Florida area for the week of April 27th as part of the Cathedral Speakers' Series. Mark your calendars for the clergy day he will lead on Tuesday, April 29th from 10 AM and 3 PM. The tentative topic is prophetic literature of Holy Scripture; the location is to be decided. The cost for the day, including lunch will not exceed $25. To register call/email Marilyn Lang at (407) 423-3567 / dcfmarilyn@aol.com

This is intended to trans-denominational and ecumenical, so please invite other clergy in your neighborhood.

Clergy Day – May 6th with Baroness Caroline Cox

Tuesday, May 6th, 2008 - 10:00 a.m. – 3:00 p.m.

The Canterbury Retreat Center

Cost - $25.00 (includes lunch)

To register call/email Marilyn Lang at (407) 423-3567 / dcfmarilyn@aol.com

“As a deputy speaker of the House of Lords, Lady Cox frequently sits on the ‘woolsack,’ the speaker’s chair, presiding over debates in the British Parliament’s Upper House. But she is no conventional parliamentarian. With a jail sentence passed in Sudan, which she jokes she is serving ‘in absentia,’ and a price on her head in Azerbaijan amounting to millions (‘Rubles or dollars, I am not sure,’ she laughs), she is a courageous campaigner for human rights and a champion of the persecuted Church.”

“Moving illegally across borders, to see firsthand ‘man’s inhumanity to man,’ has become Lady Cox’s life business, making her advocacy that much more effective. For decades Caroline Cox has been working amongst the persecuted Church, delivering medicines to the dying and maimed and buying back children who had been commandeered as slaves. She was helping those who, in her words, ‘are bereft of aid and advocacy; who are among the most isolated, outcast, and deprived in the world.’ The ones who told her, ‘We thought the world had forgotten us.’”

“As the years have gone by, her travels around the world have become increasingly dangerous. But eager to dispel any image of heroism, Lady Cox, recipient of the 1995 Wilberforce Award, which recognizes ‘an individual who has made a difference in the face of formidable societal problems and injustices,’ admits to having a ‘fit of faithless, fearful dread’ before going on her dangerous missions. ‘I don’t want to go. Home is very comfortable, with clean water, electric light, warmth, clean clothes. To wrench yourself away and go voluntarily into a conflict zone, you recoil against it. I don’t particularly want to go and get my guts blown out. I don’t really want to go and get malaria.’ But, she adds, she goes because she knows that ‘I will come back receiving more than I have ever been able to give.’ And she finds courage in a verse she was given at her Anglican confirmation: ‘Have I not commanded you to be strong, of good courage, be not afraid, neither be dismayed for I, the Lord your God, am with you wherever you may go’ (Josh. 1:9).”

“She is motivated by a number of factors. Theologically, St. Paul’s letter to the church in Corinth, where he writes that when one part of the Body of Christ suffers, we all suffer, is her primary inspiration. But there is also a political motivation. Lady Cox has a deep concern about the threats to Christianity in the world today, particularly the growing militant Islamism, which is, she believes, a ‘real threat to our spiritual and cultural heritage.’ The threat from militant extremist Islam is typified not only by the rise of al-Qaeda terrorists but by evidence she has witnessed in Sudan, Nigeria, and Indonesia. In all three places, there is jihad taking place against Christians and moderate Muslims, and efforts are being made to introduce Sharia law. ‘That is really a death knell for Christianity,’ she argues. The international community needs to ‘wake up’ and think about an intelligent ‘moral, Christian, strategic response’ to these threats. ‘Christians out there trying to hold a frontline of faith for freedom to practice Christianity often feel very beleaguered, very unsupported, and very vulnerable.’”

“I sometimes think there’s been such preoccupation with issues at home that people have failed to look out,’ she says. ‘And in doing so have denied themselves an incredible spiritual resource—the testimony of the living faith and the joy of the persecuted church.’ She believes the persecuted church is going to be the ‘spiritual salvation’ of the West, in its secularism and materialism. ‘The persecuted are at the core of the ultimate spiritual experience. They are enduring their Gethsemane. They have found a faith stripped of all the distraction of this world and have found God with them.’”

Ken Sande is the President of Peacemaker Ministries. He is an engineer and attorney who, since 1982, has used biblical peacemaking principles to help resolve thousands of conflicts, including business, employment, and family disputes; church divisions; and complex lawsuits. He is a member of the national panel of arbitrators of the American Arbitration Association and has served on the board of directors of the Christian Legal Society and the Dispute Resolution Committee of the State Bar of Montana. He presently serves on the Board of Directors of the Christian Counseling and Educational Foundation in Philadelphia. Ken is a Certified Christian Conciliator™ and is the author of numerous resources on conflict resolution, including The Peacemaker: A Biblical Guide to Resolving Personal Conflict, (Baker Books, Updated ed. 2003) and Peacemaking for Families (Tyndale, 2002).

From the Archdeacon

Annual Reports from deacons

Deacons are required to submit an Annual Report to Bishop Howe, due by May 1 each year. These reports will be distributed at Convention, and mailed to the rest of the deacons. Please complete your report and send it to me here at Diocesan House as soon as you can. Thanks so much!

Deacon and Spouse Retreat

Now is the time to sign up for the next retreat. The retreat will take place at Canterbury Retreat and Conference Center, April 25-27, 2008. Our leader, with the assistance of our own deacon Bob Green, will be Keith Miller; he has written a number of books, including The Taste of New Wine, A Hunger for Healing, and What to Do With the Rest of Your Life: Awakening and Achieving Your Unspoken Dreams, among others. Do save these dates and plan to attend. We have a wonderful group of deacons here in our diocese, and we are enriched and our ministries strengthened when we take time away, in community.

Pastoral Care and Ministry Workshops

ICS for many years has offered terrific opportunities to learn more about various issues and concerns that we or the people we would serve face, often on a daily basis. The next workshops are:

April 5 Pastoral Care and Ministry: Ministry With Adolescents in the Midst of Great Need

Led by Eric Moulton, Diocesan Youth Officer

NOTE: Anyone involved in pastoral care or interested in the subject matter is welcome to attend!

Other classes and workshops:

April 5 The Beliefs of the Church I

The Rev. Dr. John Jacobs

General Letters of to the Early Churches

The Rev. Don Curran

Pastoral Care and Ministry III: Ministry with Youth (Supporting Adolescents in the Midst of Great Need)

Diocesan Youth Ministry Team

April 9 Quiet Day for Parish Secretaries and Other Staff

(To be held at Canterbury Retreat and Conference Center)

Offered in collaboration with Canterbury

Diocesan Acolyte Festival – May 10

The Annual Diocesan Acolyte Festival and trip to “Wet ‘n’ Wild” is Saturday, May 10. For information, contact Sharon Glynn by email at dcfacolytes@aol.com or by phone or fax at 863-644-5170.

Licensed Non-Parochial and Supply Clergy

A listing of licensed, non-parochial and supply clergy is included in this issue of Leadership News Items. The list is based on the filing of the annual report which is available through Marilyn Lang at the diocesan office. We hope this list will be helpful to those looking for supply clergy or extended ministries. Those using the list to find candidates for Priest-in-Charge or Interim Rector should coordinate that final selection with Bishop Howe.
